

Technical Instructor (Lighting)

Salary £27,146 inclusive

Rose Bruford College is a leading provider of specialist, vocational BA degree programmes in all aspects of theatre and live performance. This post supports students studying on the College's undergraduate and postgraduate lighting degrees, as well as the learning of students from other design, technical, management and performance courses.

As the successful candidate, you will be part of a team of Technical Instructors providing technical and logistical support for the College's teaching, production and related activities, and the supervision and technical instruction of students. You will have a broad range of knowledge, skills and experience including:

- Lighting for theatre and live entertainment
- A variety of lighting control systems
- Digital technologies and software used in entertainment lighting

You will be able to balance the conflicting demands of a busy working environment, and have a strong commitment to working with and supporting students, as well as being organised, reliable and proactive. The ability to work both independently and as a member of a team, and to bring enthusiasm and dedication to the role, is essential.

The post is full time, 35 hours per week, with some Saturday working. The College offers an attractive package, with 35 days holiday, plus bank holidays, and a salary scale rising to £30,260 inclusive of OLWA with satisfactory performance. We will support your professional progress through access to our staff development programme and by enabling outside professional work through flexible working patterns. For further information on the essential requirements for the role please obtain the job description and person specification contained within our application pack at <https://www.bruford.ac.uk/about/work-with-us/>

At Rose Bruford College we champion diversity because a rich mix of people makes us a more productive and creative place to study and work; and we champion equality because it is the right thing to do.

Salary quoted includes Outer London Weighting Allowance

Should you have any queries please email recruitment@bruford.ac.uk

Closing date Friday 1 October 2021